The British Columbian.

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1869.

International Intercourse.

British Columbia is sandwiched by American Territory. The commercial interests of the two countries on the Pacific are intertwined, so to speak. Like the network of bloodvessels in the human frame, to wound one is to damage the whole system. Of course, British Columbia, being the smaller and weaker, can least endure injury. The slightest puncture is felt by her just now. The question naturally presents itself:—"Why should two contiguous, English-speaking peoples, suckled by the same mother, inspired by the same laudable objects, be living on unneighbourly terms?" Just imagine two pioneer settlers, who have, in a laudable spirit of enterprise and self-reliance, journeyed far from Fatherland, to establish new homes for themselves. They settle side by side, their estates only divided by a boundary line marked upon the trees. In a neighbourly spirit of mutual intercourse and friendly offices how identical the success of both. If, however, on the contrary, they look coldly and suspiciously at each other, and are ever carping at and misrepresenting the actions and interests of each other, and are more disposed to interpose hindrances than to afford mutual help, what a miserable exhibition of human existence is presented. Jealousy in domestic circles is scarcely more inexcusable and pernicious than it is in the case of people so circumstanced. Jealous! Of what? Why should we be jealous of the success of our neighbours? Why, above all, should they be jealous of us? With commercial interests so completely interwoven, in warp and in woof, the success of the one is the success of the other. Their manufactures and their produce meet with a market amongst our people, while their spare capital finds profitable employment in developing the mineral and forest resources of this Colony. Their steamboats and sailing ships bring their wares to us, and take away what we have to spare. Their telegraphs supply us with the current news of the day. In return, we pay them in gold for everything we get. Still we are more their customers than they are ours. Yet, notwithstanding all this, there exists an unnatural coldness between the two peoples. Their newspapers seldom deign to notice us, and what little they say, breathes not the spirit of good-fellowship. Some of our newspapers occasionally indulge in purile and most injudicious detraction. Commercial distrust has culminated in the "wiring" of the very goods we buy from our neighbours, as if they would drive away a good customer. Clearly, we have not a good understanding—we are not on such frank and neighbourly terms as we ought to be. Why is all this? The Government of British Columbia should shape its policy with a view to bringing about a better understanding. The press of British Columbia should aim at smoothing down those little international asperities which tend to estrange the two peoples. The people of British Columbia should avail themselves of every opportunity of establishing more friendly relations with their neighbours. We can ill-afford to be unfriendly. We should not wish to be so, even if we could afford it. It is a pity that "such as brethren are" cannot always be prevailed upon "in unity to dwell." Because one prefers to remain under the old flag, while the other has set up for itself under a new one, that is, no reason why either should seek ever and anon to administer a parenthetical kick to the other. Let our people seek to cultivate a more friendly feeling with their neighbours, not only because it will be more profitable, but because it will render life far more enjoyable.

The New Zealand massacre has developed some latter-day martyrs for religion's sake. The natives captured by the Maori rebels were offered their lives if they would bow down to the Hanhan god; but they refused, and fifty of them were put to death.

CANADIAN MAIL SUMMARY.

GALT'S SPEECH ON FENIAN CLAIMS.

Our Canadian files are to the 28th ult. The chief feature of interest is the Hon. Mr. Galt's speech in moving his resolution against the "Fenian Claims." The resolution was to the effect that His Excellency should send down to the House copies of the correspondence with the Imperial Government relating to the outlay incurred by Canada in the defence of the frontier in 1863 and 1864, and also growing out of the Fenian invasion subsequently, as constituting a claim against the United States. He asked permission of the House to add a request for further papers and copies of all correspondence and unpublished Orders in Council relating to the representations made to the Government of Canada by the United States. Mr. Galt supported his resolution with an able and statesmanlike speech, touching upon all the more important circumstances bearing upon the international question with a clearness and force which must have been all the more appreciated on account of his entire freedom from a bounce, and the absence of words in any way calculated to offend the neighbouring nation. He alluded very briefly and with dignified moderation to Senator Chandler's proposition for the transfer to the United States of British North America in settlement of the Alabama claims. On this point he said that even if it were possible that Great Britain could for an instant entertain such a monstrous proposition as to transfer the Dominion to the States, he thought he would be perfectly justified in saying on behalf of that House and the people of Canada, that they would be no parties to such a transfer. In such a case, the Dominion would claim to be the arbiter of its own destiny. Turning to the Alabama Treaty, he said they had all expected that the long relations between Great Britain and the United States would have been more assured by the adoption of that treaty—that the interchange of friendly sentiments by the Ministers of the United States with England would have been reciprocated, and that there would have been a disposition on the part of the United States to set at rest all that ill feeling which had grown out of the late war. He regretted to find that this was not the case, and he thought that much of the circumstances—when they found that not only was such a speech as that of Senator Chandler's made in the Senate, but that the rejection of the treaty had been accompanied by such an extraordinary and alarming increase in the demands of the United States—under these circumstances he hoped it would not be held to be censurable on his part to make a few moderate observations respecting the course of Canada towards the United States of late years. Referring to the attitude of Canada towards the United States during the civil war, he said, the notion in his hand referred to claims which had been, or might be made for indemnity of the expenditure arising out of the late Fenian outrages, and he would now show the grounds on which such a claim might be urged. He thought it not unusual for Canadians—living as they had done alongside the United States—to point to acts which showed their conduct towards that great country—conduct during a time in which the people of the Northern States were in great distress, when they were engaged in a life and death conflict with the Southern States. The people of Canada could fairly appeal to this conduct during that period to show that they had faithfully, and to the best of their ability done their duty as good neighbors. The people of Canada had no desire to shirk their responsibility as a portion of the Empire of Great Britain. They knew that they had to share it, whatever were the wrongs inflicted on the United States—whether connected with the Alabama claims, or the larger and more extended one connected with the Fenian invasion. It was clear that Canadians must share part of it. (Hear, hear.) Still, it was their duty to point out that during the period alluded to, the course of Canada had been one of friendship and of frank fulfillment of their duties to their neighbors across the line. The papers he had that day asked for would disclose a history of the representations made on the part of the United States, and of such prompt action on the part of the Government of this country, as would satisfy every unbiased mind that no charge whatever of shirking their responsibility lay against the people of Canada. It was true that during the rebellion much sympathy had been expressed on the part of a portion of the press and the public, and if in a free country such had not been the case it would have been extraordinary. At the same time, the laws of the Province permitted an asylum here for those who were obliged from one cause or another to leave the United States, and the presence of such persons in the country—persons who in many instances had suffered loss—naturally created some sympathy. But what, he would ask, was the course of Canadians as a people and as a Government? As a people, he would doubt, the material aid and comfort they gave was to the North and not to the South. If the official records of the United States were searched it would be found that 40,000 men from Canada had served in the Northern army, and at the same time that power drew largely on these Provinces for supplies for the war. For their cavalry, and whatever else they wanted, they looked to Canada as an arsenal and granary from which to draw supplies; but no such assistance was given the people of the Southern States. Had Canada been in proximity to the South, it might have been otherwise; but the fact was indisputable that the resources of Canada were placed at the disposal of the North and not the South. He then detailed minutely the circumstances connected with the St. Albans raid, and the solicitude evinced by the Canadian Government to prevent border outrages. A very considerable armed force was placed on the frontier, swelling up the cost of the militia from $30,000 to half a million; and yet the additional burden was borne by the people without a murmur, so resolved were they to do their duty. He said that the world was horrified by the assassination of President Lincoln, the Government of Canada, desirous of preventing the possibility of similar outrages being concocted in the Province, passed an alteration of the Alien Act, whereby the Government were enabled to desire persons who could not properly account for themselves at once to leave the Province. This Act was not passed on the requisition of the United States or British Government, but by the Government of Canada unasked, in order to show their detestation of the outrage which had been committed. Any impartial person examining the whole course of events during the American war, must be convinced that the course of Canada towards the United States was most upright and friendly—that every effort was used by the Province to guard the Republic from damage or injury, and that nothing could be charged against the people of this country, but the utterances of a portion of the press, and the sympathies of some of the people in favor of the South. Nothing, in fact, but such utterances as must always, in every free country continue to be expressed, and which he hoped they would never seek to suppress. Any country which could not bear to have its acts so criticised must feel itself to be in the wrong. He would also allude to the fact, proven on all the trials, that in not one instance was a Canadian subject concerned in one of these outrages on American property. He next contrasted the conduct of the United States, in connection with the Fenian invasion, with that of Canada. He did not desire to use a single word which might create ill-feeling towards the United States; but it was undeniable that for months—aye, years—an organization of the most formidable character was in the United States, armed, now subject to the Federal Government, and the United States, but certainly having United States arms and drilled by United States officers. It held public meetings at which members stated their object to be the invasion and conquest of Canada. In the city of New York this organization held its headquarters, and even went so far as to form a Government of its own and draw out plans of invasion. What was the sin of the people of Canada? He desired the papers to be brought down to show whether this was a fair return for the action taken by Canada. But not content with increasing the expenditure of Canada to an enormous extent, people from the States invaded Canada. They entered the Province in armed bands by thousands, and not from any want of will on their part, but simply from a desire for power, they had sought to deluge the Western peninsula with blood and overturn the existing Government. Thanks, not to the United States Government, but to the men of that western peninsula, these marauders were gallantly met and expelled. Had the people of Canada no ground to complain of this great wrong inflicted on them—inflicted on a peaceful people? Month after month, countless men with arms in their hands, were trying now subject to the control of the Parliament, to govern them wisely, to govern them economically, to develop their resources, to heal the disensions which had unfortunately been embittered in the first two years of our national existence, to remove all these difficulties as far as it was in the power of this Parliament to do so, so that we might be a people united in feeling and sentiment, as we were in interest. For our legislators, he directed that we should seek to administer the powers confided to us, so as to govern well these Provinces now linked together, and to develop efficiently the resources of the great unknown country to the west of us, and if the time should come, and he trusted it might be remote, when, either from choice or necessity, the policy of England should require this country to go forth to take her place among the nations, after the growth of our population, our institutions and our resources had been developed under her fostering nurture, he hoped that when we ceased to be British, we should at least become wholly Canadians.

Sir John A. McDonald complimented Mr. Galt upon his speech, and said he quite agreed with his hon. friend, that it would have a most salutary effect, both here and in the United States, to have that correspondence made public, for it would show what had been done by the people and Government of Canada in the way of carrying out thoroughly the duties and obligations which one civilized people owe to another.

"We are never too old to learn," and this being true, we will quote for our readers what Dr. Macgowan, the Eastern traveler, tells of the Japanese and their differings from us. "One great peculiarity of the people is their mania for squatting; they seem to do everything in this position, and even when a man is plowing in the fields he looks as if he wanted to squat. Their habits in many things seem to be so often exactly the opposite of ours, that it almost resolves itself into a rule that everything goes by contraries. When they cook a goose, instead of putting the goose on the fire, they put the fire in the goose, thus making a great saving of fuel. In planing or sawing a board, they plane or saw towards themselves, instead of from themselves. Instead of taking of your hat you take off your shoes. Instead of saying John Smith they would say Smith John, and instead of Mr. Brown, Brown Smith. The country is rich in flowers and in vegetable productions. They have carried the art of making paper to great perfection. Dr. Macgowan showed an overcoat made of paper, perfectly strong and serviceable. In this country we have paper collars, but in Japan they go further, and have paper handkerchiefs, which are very beautiful and soft, and of a very fine texture. But they are more delicate than we, in one respect. After they have used a handkerchief they throw it away, and are thus saved the trouble of washwomen. They even weave their paper, and make what may be called paper cloth of it."

AUCTION SALE THIS DAY.

WILEY FRANKLIN, Auctioneer, will sell, at 11 o'clock, a.m., at Residence, Blanchard street, Furniture, Mirrors, Pictures, Carpets, Stoves, &c.

THE BARCELY SOUND MURDER.—It will be seen by the report of the proceedings at the Assizes, yesterday, that the Indian John was placed upon trial for murdering the wife of the Captain of the John Bright. So far as the case has gone there would appear to be no doubt that the Captain and his wife were murdered under circumstances substantially the same as narrated in these columns, a fortnight ago. The Grand Jury have very properly taken notice of the dilatoriness of the authorities in making enquiry into the affair, and they will have the thanks of the entire community for thus faithfully and boldly discharging their duty in this respect. We refrain from indulging in any further remarks, as the case is now in the hands of the law, and we may be permitted to express the hope that should the trial result in sentence of death being passed upon the prisoners, or any of them, they will not be executed here, but in the immediate presence of their tribes. We venture to draw attention to the fact that the Court has not assigned Counsel to the Indian prisoners. Surely the circumstances of their being semi-savages renders them none the less entitled to this essential adjunct of British justice.

THE REACTION.—The mistake made by the Grant administration, in rejecting the Stanley-Johnson Alabama treaty is beginning to bear fruit—bitter fruit. Sumner's laurels have withered if the bud, and Johnson's laurels will bloom anew. Thoughtful men see and admit the fatal error, which has placed the government of a great country in a very awkward position before its own people, and before the world. It is sincerely to be regretted that President Grant should have permitted himself to be so seriously compromised at the very outset of a career which ought to have been a brilliant one. It is easier to get into a false position than to get out of it. How the administration will right itself remains to be seen.

THE PENNSYLVANIA.—A brief and very imperfect synopsis of the speech delivered by the Hon. Mr. Gall, in the House of Commons, on the 25th ult., will be found in another column. We have devoted a good deal of space to this subject from no feeling of "curiosity," but because we deem it to be the duty of the press, so far as possible, to disseminate the public mind of those erroneous impressions which have existed with regard to the attitude of Canada towards the United States, during the late lamentable civil war, and we only regret our inability to give Mr. Gall's speech in its entirety.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS have resulted in the return of 493 ministers, and 99 oppositionists, thus giving to the latter precisely double the votes possessed in the last Corps Legislatif. Notwithstanding this accession, however, the Government has still a large majority, and cannot feel much embarrassed by the result of the elections.

CUBA.—It will be seen that a filibustering expedition, numbering 700, has come to grief at Nipe Bay. They must either have been badly equipped or else they were not the real fighting stuff. Sixty killed and one hundred and sixty wounded against four killed is fearful odds.

FOR SHANGHAI.—Yesterday morning the barque Saga sailed from Royal Roads for Shanghai, with a cargo of lumber from S. P. Maddy & Co.'s Mills, Burrard Inlet.

NANAIMO.—By the G. S. Wright we learn that the barque Atlanta, Capt. Shaw, is loading coal for Onaska. She carries 1100 tons, and will complete her cargo this week. The Gussie Telfair is putting in new fans and will not be down before Saturday.

FOR BURRARD INLET.—The brig Byzantium, Capt. Calhoun, was towed out yesterday, by the Fly. She goes to Burrard Inlet to take in a cargo of lumber for the Sanwich Islands.

AUCTION SALE TO-DAY.—Mr. L. Franklin will sell to-day, at the residence of Mr. Dods, Blanchard street, a choice lot of furniture and household goods. See advertisement.

FOR PORTLAND.—The Str. Gussie Telfair will sail for Portland on Saturday morning.

FOR PORTLAND.—The str. G. S. Wright sailed for Portland yesterday at 3 o'clock carrying away a few passengers.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The str. Enterprise, Capt. Swanson, will sail for New Westminster at 10 o'clock this morning, taking Barnard's Cariboo express and the mails.

COMPLIMENTARY.—We learn that the Fire Department intend to honor W. A. G. Young, Esq., with a torch-light procession, and a serenade, to-night.

MORE COAL.—Mr. Alfred Fellows went up to Comox by the Douglas last Tuesday for the purpose of prospecting a seam of coal adjacent to the Haynes Sound Coal Co.'s Claim.

FROM THE NORTH.—The Hudson Bay Co.'s steamer Otter is expected to arrive from the North in a few days. We learn that she got ashore and injured her keel.

No COURT.—Owing to the attendance at the Assizes of the Hon. Mr. Pemberton, there was no Police Court held yesterday.

Court of Assize.

Before His Honor Chief Justice Neillham.

Thursday May 27th 1869.

The Calendar showed the following prisoners committed for trial, John Granlam, for Larceny. John, an Indian, for Wilful Murder. Say Tas, (alias Dick) for being accessory to murder. Toby, a Cowichan Indian, stabbing with intent. Henry William White, shooting and wounding. William Anderson, inciting a seaman to desert. William Lyons, inciting marines to desert from B.M. Navy. Thomas Shakespear do. James Gibbon do. Alexander Grant, Gilkinson Larceny, do. Embezzlement. Katchena, a Barclay Sound Indian, Wilful Murder. Anyatzeaschist (alias John) a Barclay Sound Indian, Wilful Murder.

In addressing the Grand Jury His Lordship said the Calendar presented an unusually large list of offenders, some of whom were charged with offences of a very serious character, and one entirely new upon the records of this Court. Three persons were charged with aiding and abetting desertion from Her Majesty's Navy, an offence of a very high character. A statute of Geo. III. made such an offence felony in the highest degree, but subsequent statutes had very much ameliorated the offence. There is one case of inciting an ordinary seaman to desert. There was some doubt about the offence, but he thought the Grand Jury would be safe in presenting it for trial. The other cases, His Lordship remarked, were of an ordinary character, and they would all be laid before the Grand Jury in due order.

The Grand Jury then retired. Upon the application of Mr. Bishop, Attorney for William Anderson, one of the prisoners, the Chief Justice appointed Mr. McCright to act as Counsel for the prisoner.

The Grand Jury returned a true bill against Alexander Grant, Gilkinson, for Larceny and Embezzlement, who was then brought into Court and placed upon trial upon the charge of Embezzlement. The charge contained two counts for Embezzling the sum of $300 from Alex. Carter and others, and Robert Gellispie and others, of the Bank of British North America. The prisoner pleaded guilty, and the Court declared judgment in effect as follows:

It is a painful and melancholy sight to see a man in your position, as you now stand at this bar. I do not intend to aggravate that position by any remarks beyond the necessity of the law. No one can feel more painfully than myself, the dangerous position in which you are placed by the commission of a crime of so dangerous a character; a crime which subjects you to the extreme penalty of the law. The peril of your position you, no doubt, severely feel. There is, however, a very low limit to the law, towards which I shall lean in your case. There are ameliorating circumstances in your confession which very much mitigate the character of your crime. There was an honourable motive in that confession, which shows that you had regretted the error and that you had resolved on a better course of life, and that your confession was made to prevent blame from falling upon your fellow clerks. I have given this fact every consideration.

You are sentenced to twelve months imprisonment, the last six of which will be with hard labour.

The Grand Jury found true bills against three Barclay Sound Indians for murder, who were placed in the dock and severally pleaded not guilty. The Attorney General for the Crown, then proceeded with the case.

The Queen vs. Anyatzeaschist, (alias John) for wilful murder.

A petty jury were sworn, with Mr. Hudson as foreman. The first witness called was, Matakene, an Indian, who testified through an Indian interpreter in his own tongue, who, in turn interpreted to Capt. Christenson in Chinook, which was explained by Christenson to the Court and jury. The witness said, in effect, that he saw the ship come ashore, and that he saw a man washed off and come ashore alive. That an Indian named Kakeena went down to the water and helped the man up the beach and killed him by shooting him in the back. Witness also saw a woman in the rigging of the ship. She was also washed off and came ashore alive. That John, the prisoner at the bar, went down and helped her up the beach, but when he found that she could not walk he threw her down on the rocks, then drew a revolver and shot her in the right side. She died almost immediately. That she laid on the beach and was washed up to high water mark. The witness said he saw the face of the woman, and when a miniature likeness was shown him in Court, he said it was the likeness of the woman murdered by John (the likeness was contained in a locket which we understand was found in the possession of the Indian.)

Another Indian witness was called, and was questioned for a long time through the Indian interpreter, but nothing satisfactory could be elicited. The interpreter seemed unwilling to put the question required by the Court. He said he was afraid of the relations of the witness, who had threatened to shoot him. The case was therefore adjourned until to-day at eleven o'clock.

True Bills were found by the Grand Jury against all the prisoners on the Calendar, except Say Tas, alias Dick, a Cowichan Indian, charged with being accessory to murder.

The Grand Jury also made the following PRESENTMENT:

Grand Jury Room,

May 27th, 1869.

The Grand Jury respectfully present their regret at the delay which appears to have occurred before active measures were taken on the part of the authorities, in investigating the circumstances connected with the wreck of the Bark John Bright, by which valuable evidence may have been lost, and additional loss of life incurred. Such supineness on the part of the Government, having a tendency to weaken the influence which should be at all times maintained over the native population, a period of nearly three months having elapsed from the time of the information being received, before any steps were taken in the matter.

The Grand Jury cannot but feel that it is essentially the duty of the Colonial Government to take special cognizance of such cases; and they further suggest that the Indians should be rewarded in all cases where they succour and assist shipwrecked mariners.

The Grand Jury desire to further express their recognition of the praiseworthy conduct of Captain Christenson and those who assisted him, for the energetic steps taken by them in the matter, which they respectfully suggest should be substantially recognised by the Government.

ROBERT BURNABY,

Foreman.

His Honor remarked that the subject of the presentation was one to which he could not reply, not being sufficiently acquainted with the motives which actuated the Government in the matter alluded to, but said that he would see that their presentation was placed before the proper authorities, from whom he had no doubt it would receive due consideration. To the latter clause of the presentation, however, he could reply with much pleasure, as he heartily accorded with the sentiments and suggestions contained.

His Lordship then thanked the Grand Jury and relieved them from further attendance upon the Court.

Is San Francisco gone?

Mr. Enton.—Can you give the people any clue to the source from whence the Editor of the British Columbian derives his information as to the entire collapse of commercial credit in San Francisco, which, he states in his paper of the 24th inst., is creating ruin and distress in all circles? People here, who, from their position and connections, are invariably well-informed on the state of affairs in San Francisco, have no advice of any such calamity as the Editor of the Columbian pictures to his readers. As such statements are calculated to create distrust and do much mischief in a variety of ways, I shall be glad if you can set us right on the matter.

A. B. C.

Victoria, May 25th, 1869.

Abyssinia may need chastisement again very soon. The ruling Prince there is trying his hand at persecution after the fashion of Theodore, and is making sad work with the Armenian ecclesiastics who went to release the captives previous to the advent of the British troops. They have themselves become captives. The British Consul General in Egypt has been instructed to look into the matter.

Mr. Moses H. Grinnell was the other day appointed collector of Customs at New and a day or two afterwards the New York Times reported the applications for office under him for clerkships, 7,679; for inspectors, 2,792, and for private secretary, 715.

An old Indian silver mine has been found in Indiana. Over one of the furnaces was found a tree that had a diameter of fifteen inches, showing the great antiquity of the mine. A quantity of fine metal was found at the bottom of one of the furnaces.

A Canadian woman named Mary Ann Baptiste, who has lived at Prairie du Chien nearly a century, died on the night of the first of February, at the advanced age of one hundred and twenty-nine years.

There are 112,403 professional thieves in London. There are also 2,280 receivers of stolen goods, and 2,639 thief lodging-houses.

29,000 volumes were added last year to the Printed Book Department of the British Museum.

TELEGRAPHIC.

SPECIAL TO THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN.

EASTERN STATES.

CHICAGO, May 25.—The Tribune's special says the Cabinet is considering the question of England's recognition of the belligerents of the South, as set forth in Sumner's speech, with much care. General Butler has called attention to the fact that the Supreme Courts had actually recognized the belligerency of the South, prior to the Queen's Proclamation. Several Senators are said to appear to think that the action of the Senate was rather precipitate in rejecting the Johnson-Stanley treaty, and were the case again before them they would do otherwise.

A despatch from St. Paul's denies the statement that four Indian children and a number of old women and others recently died. No unusual suffering for food or clothing exists among the Indians.

BOSTON, May 25.—The New England Woman's Suffrage Association held a meeting last night. Over eight hundred vocal organs have reported their intention to join the great Peace Jubilee.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Four vessels which arrived yesterday have been detained, having the small-pox aboard. The patients were sent to the small-pox hospital on Blackwell's Island.

It is reported that the Spanish Government will soon issue a decree requesting that all citizens of the realm or Colonies, residing in foreign countries, who own property in Cuba, shall register their names, within a stated period, with the nearest Consul, and take the oath of allegiance to the Mother Country, otherwise all such property will be liable to seizure.

MAY 26.—The Herald's special says the organization of Legationists and Moderators Republican candidates have been beaten every where: the Radicals are victorious in Paris and Lyons. The new Corps Legislatif will be composed wholly of Government and Radical members. It meets on June 15th. The country is tranquil.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—A special says the State Department is becoming uneasy at the continued silence of Minister McMahon. Letters of recall were sent him several months ago, but no answer has been received.

A large number of applications have been received from colored men, for clerkships in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Advices from the Plains are of a character that causes fear of trouble with the Indians. It is expected that prompt arrival of supplies may prevent an outbreak.

PROVIDENCE, May 26.—The General Assembly met to-day at Newport. The votes for State officers were counted, and the new officers sworn in.

EUROPE.

PARIS, May 25.—The elections for the Corps Legislatif resulted as follows:—Government candidates elected 103; Opposition candidates elected 50; number of Opposition party in last Corps Legislatif 45. Among the members elected are Jules Simon, Engle, Bismarck. Thiers is probably defeated.

MAY 26.—The excitement over the elections is very great. The boulevards are crowded with people anxious to hear the result. Further returns announce the election of nine official candidates, three Independent, two Democrats and two Liberals, in addition to those reported this morning. Ruschi, Favre, and Dore are all elected.

FLORANCE, May 25.—The Austrian Consul at Leghorn, while walking with Colonel Greenville, was killed by an assassin. Colonel Greenville was wounded.

VIENNA, May 25.—Minister Fay has arrived.

WEST INDIES.

HAVANA, May 25.—Seven hundred men disembarked on the night of the 16th, in the Bay of Nipe, and quietly took possession, mounting six guns, and fortifying three houses. They remained undiscovered for thirty-six hours. Captain Mosco attacked them with 120 men; stormed one house, and captured a flag, but was finally obliged to retreat, his ammunition giving out. The filibusters lost 60 killed and 160 wounded. The Spaniards had four killed. The troops captured the six guns. Four steamers, with troops, have sailed for the Bay of Nipe.

It is reported that the rebel General Quesada has been captured and shot.

Sugar is steady, and holders firm. May 26.—Hayti advices report that Salnave recently declared a suspension of hostilities for three days, and offered amnesty to all the Rebels who would surrender. Many availed themselves of this offer.

An Australian letter states that, in consequence of the severe drought which has prevailed there, one man, who had 18,000 sheep, has lost 14,000 of them.

The Sultan of Turkey proposes to spend $1,500,000, in gold in the entertainment of the Prince and Princess of Wales.

AUSTRALIAN HOTEL.—W. C. S. Seeley, James Bay Bridge. Accommodations for Ladies, Gentlemen and Families. Furnished Rooms, and Board at the most Reasonable Terms. Wines and Spirits of the best quality served at the bar, or rooms. Sea-water Baths are attached to the Hotel. Pleasure Boats on hand.

SCOTCH HOUSE.—A McLean & Co are just opening a fine assortment of Summer hats, and clothing received by last express.

He who drinks any but Fell's coffee is liable to drink trash. Beware of spurious imitations.
